“Users actually want to use ASG Workspaces, as the UI is attractive and highly customizable.”

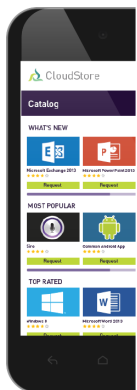

–VP Desktop Services
Multinational Financial Institution

ASG Workspaces are browser-based, self-service workspaces that offer business users all the apps, services and content they need, specific to their job role. They can leverage all the cloud services and traditional enterprise apps that make them the most productive, while the IT department provides governance in terms of cost and security.

Why ASG Workspaces?

- End-User Adoption: The attractive, device-aware and self-service-centric UI of ASG Workspaces ensures end-user adoption, overcoming one of the main reasons for the failure of VDI
- Differentiation for Outsourcers: Outsourcers and SIs are able to customize and brand ASG Workspaces-based, customer-specific requirements
- OPEX Savings:
 - Provisioning Cost: Self service capabilities, in combination with a flexible orchestration and automation engine, cut significant manual work out of app lifecycle management
 - Process Automation: Automate complex business process, such as user onboarding
 - License savings: Proactive software license optimization within a flexible, self-service context
 - Built-in end-user support: Built-in remote support, knowledge base, and self-service issue resolution to reduce the number of service tickets
- CAPEX Savings: ASG Workspace's open architecture enables customers to seamlessly integrate with their current infrastructure and spend less on servers, storage, network and security compared to VDI
